Open Source Journalism Project: Help Us Find Facial Abuse / Ghetto Gaggers / Latina Abuse Survivors to Interview, there's almost 1000 and most actresses vanish after shooting for DV's Sites. Been at this a year in my spare time but need help. This shit is pure evil & I can only endure so much.

Updated: 4/6/22

There are things worse than porn. There's Facialabuse & Ghattogaggers.

There is what D&E Media's Founder Donald E. Vollenweider did to Meghan Lynai Joel, aka Kitty Catherine ultimately causing her 2019 suicide. HEAVY TW: Rape & Suicide.

Facialabuse is real rape^{NSFW}. There's supposedly a small minority of women who enjoy this kind of thing as somebody will always chime in to say in these discussions, or how that Duke girl said oh, it wasn't that bad for her, but that's irrelevant because it doesn't change what they put the other 85% of those women through. The site's owner is a licensed PI in New Jersey somehow, and through a complex trap of contract law, probably some political connections that come with the amount of money he's making in east orange New Jersey have enabled this Donald Guy to peddle what is basically rape-snuff, filmed right here in the US. Although he does have an offshore company in St. Kitts where he stows his wealth, and will surely abscond to once the law finally wakes up to what he's been doing for now, well more than 500 videos and over the span of almost 20 years now. Ask yourself this if nothing else: Where are these girls now? I know of at least a few that couldn't go on living after, who can say if there's a correlation. (In at least one case I can make a damn good case there was one, it was ruled an OD but everyone knows fentanyl is the happy suicide pill)

There was Willow aka Julie Ellis, age 19 back in 2008. Donald Vollenweider, who basically is facialabuse, founded it, runs it, shoots it, and has made millions off of it, most of which is kept in St. Kitts through a shell company, posted in a forum that she was 'a nice girl' and, unsolicited, that he was glad nobody blamed him for her death

There was Amber Rayne in 2016, who had shot for FA but who Donald somehow also owned the entire catalogue and likeness rights of of because he still runs "her" site Club Amber Rayne.

There was CJ, right down the way from me in Gardena.

That's what Vanessa Naughty went by in her personal life, this is the heartbreaking eulogy her SO

If you forced yourself to watch even a few minutes of the shoot this girl endured after reading the eulogy her heartbroken girlfriend left her along with a playlist on YouTube, you would have no further questions except the ones I have been obsessing over.

I forced myself to skim through her facialabuse footage at one point and oh man, that was difficult. In 2019 she had gone back to Long Beach City College and was pursuing I.T. Stuff there.

Her family set up this gofundme to pay for burial expenses at the time.

Donald and the 'Jersey Wrecking Crew' or what he calls 'his meat puppets' were like, especially cruel to her, even by FA standards.

She would be on my list of 'Jane Doe definitely not acting, try to contact for testimony' list in my 'forbidden research folder of infinite sadness' along with these unidentified Janes if I hadn't found out about her death.

Just a couple of the other Jane Does we're hoping to establish contact with:

- Angel from GhettoGaggers (no last name just '18 year old angel')
- Rosalyn Winter
- Whitney Gunn
- The 'Disgraced Dominatrix (Venus Reign)
- 'Corn Fed Cowgirl' (no stage name)
- ~~Hestia~~/Wildling (we talked very briefly but it was an incredibly difficult subject for her. I can absolutely confirm this young woman is genuinely traumatized & mad as hell about how she was treated by D&E , as she should be)
- Carleigh Rogers aka Azura Starr aka [redacted] (maybe her real name so I have omitted it, still a dead end, as she too has vanished)
- Emma Wilson aka (I have her real name & twitter, and she has posted this year so I may be able to interview her)
- Taylor Mae aka 'cruelest painal ever' girl on efukt (sent her a letter just a few days ago, even if I have the right address it's still TBD if she's willing or able to talk about her experience, which is normal for individuals processing trauma)
- Jollee aka Jayda Lee aka [redacted] (found her, looks like she's doing alright since leaving the industry, but that's why they call them survivors, her shoot was clearly traumatizing so I haven't attempted to make contact yet for fear of being a destabilizing influence by bringing up FA. I also only have her work address so I'd have to write her there which is eh hh.)

There's 1000 of these videos and I can stomach one maybe two of them in a month. A journalist I'm working with watches most of them for me and gives notes courtesy his stronger stomach but I need help. I can't even fit all the mp4s from hell on my computer's 1tb hard drive.

And yes I've tried pimeyes, this sped up finding out the stage names of the ones that weren't listed, but not for getting in touch for the most concerning ones who vanished afterward and didn't have an industry presence. What I really need is palantir but only LE gets access to the facial recognition search engine that has a social media index. Anyone with palantir out there willing to bend the rules for the greater good hit me up.

And again most importantly, if anyone has shot for FA and is willing to talk about their experience, either publicly or off the record, or knows anybody who has, [please get in touch] (mailto:mancierge@pm.me).

Oh and here's Courtney Comfort aka Riley, age 23, no cause of death published, and who I literally just found out about while putting together this post. Was it a death of despair? probably, that's usually what it means when no cause of death is included in the obit, as was the case with Willow (I confirmed Willow's COD elsewhere).

Edit: Courtney's cause of death confirmed as suicide, numerous additional suicides and attempted suicides discovered through further research and tips from redditors.

More important than being opposed to sex work, in my opinion as a Marxist-Feminist, is to be supportive of sex workers material conditions. But that's hardly relevant, clearly women are being hurt and some have even died, so who will stand up to this rapey tony soprano Duke Skywalker and destroy this fucking company? If you oppose harm coming to women, and you want to see [TW] the worst thing that has ever passed as protected speech ← (HEAVY TW link! edited for YT but still...) eradicated, we are on the same side in this.

RAPE IS NOT PROTECTED SPEECH. RAPE IS A FELONY.

Thank you for your time that is all.

~~Edit: OH! GGG! Thanks gentlefolks. 🥰 if anyone feels compelled to chip in for a new prime membership or to help show, we are adventurers and I am an unpaid journalist. I am a cowardly not very smart like y'all I am trash and this is~~

I remember reading about the suicide rate of porn stars. It really is staggering. And more people should write about GG, LA and FA in journalism.

yeah honestly I'm doing this because nobody else was. I don't understand how it has been so hard for people to acknowledge what is happening right before their eyes.

Here's some data I came upon in my research unwittingly: In her 2010 video "the hardcore truth about porn" (sorry the sound edit is fucking dreadful, I can't find the original though right now, also TW galore) the late Shelley Lubben notes that about 50-100 pornstars had died since about 2000 or so. I counted how many had passed away since her video came out and lost count some point after 600. The only year that saw an overall decrease was 2020, the year that porn production actually stopped a little bit thanks to the lockdowns. They soared back to 80--100 last year once production resumed. One of those 600+ was shelley lubben.

Her death makes me uneasy for a lot of reasons. It was initially ruled a suicide, because her oldest daughter had died just days before. I don't know how, couldn't find any trace of Tiffany Lubben, not a sex worker but Lubben in her books lamented having brought her up around pimps and johns when she was still a sex worker, and not yet an activist.

but then later her death was deemed inconclusive. primarily by Ari. There is a really REALLY unsettling video of her arch-enemy Ari Bass aka Michael Whiteacre aka Honeyhouse PR- a friend of Donald Vollenweider and a go-to fixer for dirty work of the Free Speech Coalition, who literally stalked and harassed this woman and other enemies of the FSC for years ~ like it was his full time job, it was clear he was being paid to smear her to me when I saw his entire blog, a facebook page, a youtube series, everything he did on twitter were all dedicated completely to him harassing and discrediting this woman - what I found most unsettling though was the last video he posted on his youtube channel immediately after the news of the 50 year old anti-porn activist's passing became known.

Like what the hell was he doing way the hell up there in Kern County, just drove 3 hours from the Porn Fernando Valley to spit on her grave so to speak? I'm not saying Ari Bass (real name) killed Shelly Lubben, but he's definitely at least as responsible for her death as the untimely passing of her daughter Tiffany.

~~Possibly~~ Also Ari Bass may possibly have murdered Shelley Lubben and the FSC may possibly have paid him to do it.

Honestly, I see a lot of independent sex work as not a whole lot more degrading than any other commodification of the human body and spirit ~ that's to say very degrading comrade, but still.. I don't find what Shelley Lubben or Pink Cross had been advocating for was all the unreasonable. So why so much time spent making her life miserable?

She was focusing on Sex Workers material conditions when everyone else was still all like "think of the children" and "as long as we can hide 2 girls one cup from little tommy this is fine".

Was Michael Whiteacre a paid Union Buster for the FSC elite? I wouldn't rule it out. All their unionization attempts in porn have been discredited "somehow" and failed, always in that order. A lot of threads here, only one of me to pull them. I don't have all the answers yet unfortunately. But porn definitely needs mandatory union membership, royalty checks AND SOME FUCKING OSHA ENFORCEMENT FOR GOD'S SAKE

The worst one I have heard of is one I read about on Reddit some time ago. It's a notorious scene called "The Blue Room", featuring a girl called Cody Lane. The video is apparently a gang rape, but still easy to find (and has tens of millions of views) on mainstream sites. She spent the last few years of her miserable life commenting anonymously (but with obvious clues to her identity) about it, how she spent months afterward shivering in bed, having nightmares, etc. She said she was essentially blackmailed into doing the scene by an abusive boyfriend. According to descriptions, she is crying at the beginning of the scene, clearly terrified. Even hardened porn addicts describe the scene as simply violence masquerading as sexual intercourse. It's nonetheless legal, because she signed that it was consensual. She likely had no choice. I imagine many videos people watch are like this.

the blue room, the majority of donald vollenweider's filmography with some consensual stuff mixed in so people can look at the more famous girls saying it was consensual and ignore the industry unknown small town girl naked covered in god knows what sobbing genuinely with their face held in a dog dish of their own puke as david brian horter or pauly harker (prior to his indictment for weapons trafficking on behalf of a white supremacist militia group) slaps her between sobs and donald emil vollenweider makes fun of her for being molested by her step-dad which she actually was as revealed in the prior trauma and trigger section of the release forms.

how fucked up is it that every hollywood movie has the disclaimer at the end "no animals were harmed in the making of this film" I guess not including the ones they eat? But the entire point of this site is to hurt young women as permanently and as severely as possible in an hour or two.

So, women acting in porn LITERALLY fewer workplace safety guarantees in their porn jobs than the Chihuahua in those taco bell commercials.

I googled "Donald Vollenweider Chester NJ" and found a website (which contains addresses, so I probably can't post it here) which is him bragging about rape. It may actually be his own site, since it contains a contact email, a picture of himself, all of the sites he's been responsible for, his mother's details, etc. He also calls himself the "Rape King". Here are some excerpts:

"Either I'm the Stanley Kubrick of porn directors or I found a way to get away with rape."

"I've let my boys rape over 500 women so I could film it and sell the video on my sites. They're sex workers so you chumps don't even realize it's real rape most of the time, and even when you do - you can't do shit because my lawyers wrote up a contract so damn ironclad these cornered, desperately impoverished American girls with no better options can't do shit when we make them puke up their Geneva rights and eat them back up out of a doggy dish that says "whore"."

"I miss Dad but I have an undiagnosed antisocial personality disorder though so I don't get too broken up about it. I am a sociopathic predator after all, and well versed in playing normal as many of us are. People get uncomfortable around me when they realize I don't have the capacity for empathy, I can't really help that though it's just how I am. Mom loves me that way."

IMDB is complicit in the pornography business; one of the "actors" mentioned on the site has his own IMDB profile. This website needs to be boycotted. I believe it's also the site where THE coomer guy who inspired the memes writes all of his "reviews".

The tagline of his Duke Skywalker website (it's NSFW) is "Fueled by hate, broken promises, and unanswered prayers!"

ahhhaha it shows up on google now? ummm... confession time. THAT one was me trying to counter his aggressive barrage of DMCA attacks against any reference to him online whatsoever, not long ago but before I decided to just come out and have that piece of shit come at me cause he's got way more to lose than I do.

One thing that I actually took directly from him though was the rape king name. If the wordpress blog below was indeed put online j 2wsazdsrweet2

Speaking of Pauly Harker, did you see any of this? He's going to federal prison most likely, not for this but for basically conspiring to do TERRORISM with other white supremacists.

it's an exaggerated but accurate depiction of how this guy actually talks though.

You need to open .webarchive files in apple safari but if anyone can comb through the webarchive files here that I made indexing his forum activity circa 2009ish and back up anything I haven't backed up already in the wayback machine I WOULD APPRECIATE THAT SO MUCH I HAVE TO GO GET READY TO FILE SOMETHING IN SMALL CLAIMS IN LIKE AN HOUR AND NONE OF THIS VERY VERY INCRIMINATING COMMENTARY OF HIS IS BACKED UP ANYWHERE EXCEPT THE PORTION I ARCHIVED LAST WEEK!!! those links are all of his posts on that particular forum and that BIG RED guy is one of his meat puppets.

that's his real address though. do with that what you may.

Weirdly though some of the most first information I found on him, and something that guided me early on when nobody was talking about this ~ was a wordpress blog since taken offline (but which I archived here of course) but that my research partner swears up and down was actually a guerilla marketing stunt to promote the sites and that Donald explicitly admitted it to him before dude couldn't take anymore of don's bullshit and blocked him on twitter. But almost all of the information there checks out. Like the names are real, emails were real, there are photos. nothing I found out there didn't end up checking out but it makes no sense why Don would doxx himself and his meat puppets when they had already made a lot of enemies. An enigma...

My abuser liked to make me perform many acts that are involved in such videos. And had an intense interest and enjoyment in varied forms of sadism and rape. I always assumed the content I saw was unstaged as a child actually. since it was happening to me, I just figured it could happen to other people as well. I am in my early twenties, so this would have been around 2010ish, with a much more developed internet.

↑ 8 ↓ Reply +

yeah people need to understand that this is a fundamentally different animal we're dealing with here and that people who are not typically anti-porn should be just as disturbed by this, maybe more since they have bought into the fiction that it's all pretend, as I myself did not so long ago.

FFS even the suitcase pimp from Hot Girls Wanted who's house they live in says he'd never send a girl to shoot with facialabuse without making them sit down and watch like 25 hours of it to try and convince them otherwise.

Put a pin in Matrix Models of beverly hills. Those suitcase pimps send a considerably above average number of their first time models to shoot there, Bella Knox for instance was sent there by them. More recently, Ginger Grey was sent there for her second or third shoot. And matrix is in california, which actually enforces it's labor laws OCCASIONALLY, unlike jersey.

I have the US Attorney who prosecuted girls doporn on speed dial for when I get something Donald can't come back from or bury. That's why I need to talk to at least a few of these jane does. even indirectly.

Edit: I'd be glad to exchange research with you, email me at [mancierge@pm.me] (<mailto:mancierge@pm.me>) and let me know what you're missing. I can give you most of the what I have except for the real names of living models that I have obviously. At least for now.

Donald was selling Ginger's personal info and offering that of others on a sub he set up to peddle personal information of girls who'd had the misfortune of working for him, possibly in an attempt to lure me in and figure out who's been on his tail. I'm not linking to the two reddit's he mods with his 'anonymous' account because then he might get tipped off to me following him around here making .webarchive files as he commits felonies.

ugh he's such a sack of shit though you can almost taste the cheeto dust on his keyboard as he gargles self righteously about the merits of milton friedman anarcho capitalism and collects his weapons of choice on r/OSINT and whines about social media moderating disinformation and being an overall blimp of a cuck.

I can't wait until he finds out what racist softies have to let the Aryan Brotherhood do to them in order not to get mulched into human toilet wine by Black Guerilla Family or La Eme in prison. It rhymes with Glacial Excuse.

Even some of the Aryan Brotherhood trash frown upon violence against women and definitely on rape though, so he might find himself with no good options, just like around 1000 traumatized models out there did at one point.. wherever they are now.

I like to think that happy endings are possible when enough people realize they have the same interests and make big moves as a group.

Hmmm. Okay. Well this is the internet and I would strongly suggest for you to be a little more aware of how you're coming off to a group who is strictly against porn and human trafficking. You may be too, but there are porn obsessed "fans" who hunt and stalk porn actresses online and this is how it came off to me personally.

If this really is an "open source project" I would suggest you reach out to actual crisis counselors and studying up on how to handle things like this rather than just jumping head first into contacting them. If you don't have a goal other than just "find them and have them tell me their name" you sound either untrustworthy or a bit over your head. Sometimes reaching out to women who have gone through this level of abuse does more harm than good. Sometimes they aren't missing, they're really just hiding and don't want to be found because the abuse they had to endure from places like FA.

I'm not completely saying to stop what you're doing, but please be a little more professional in the way you post and speak about this. Also try to branch out into how to handle speaking to those who have gone through severe abuse and trauma rather than treating it like "I found you!".

Thanks for saying all this. I think OP's heart is probably in the right place, but contacting strangers to say "remember that time you were abused?" doesn't sit well with me. I also feel it was wrong of him to doxx the dead women and reveal the names of their family members to the public.

Survivors of violence deserve the right to be left alone and not feel like they're being harassed. It can take a long time to stop feeling like their trauma defines them. They deserve to live their lives with the peace and freedom that has been denied them.

I'm a survivor of sexual assault within the sex industry (not porn though) and also before I entered, as well as after I exited, for what it's worth.

Edit: Forgot to add that trying to find people through facial recognition software is super creepy.

Donald is selling the personal information of his victims on a subreddit that he mods for so regrettably I don't have the luxury to go back to college and take a trauma informed human sexuality class like I would like to. I probably oversold the humility there too, most people in my life have experienced some sort of abuse at some point that has scarred them more or less permanently.

This was not a deliberate state of affairs for me at any point but something that occurred naturally over time, as I tend to take those kinds of wounds much more seriously than others might and am well studied in nuances like the probable and documented symptom list distinctions between the likely mannerisms and discomforts of a woman with PTSD from single shocking or overstimulating memory vs one experiencing complex PTSD from the sustained, unending feeling of physical insecurity and danger that one endures when for example living with an abusive partner for an extended period of time, or the unsettled debate in the psychiatric community as to the merits of a DSM-VI Borderline Personality Disorder diagnosis since BPD is symptomatically almost identical to C-PTSD, some even likening BPD to the pseudoscientific and sexist diagnoses of 'hysteria' in past years resulting from a disingenuous failure of the sciences to adequately arrange studies on the distinct female experiences pertaining to those same diagnoses. In short some allege BPB is just cPTSD, in women, and since the matter is unsettled, and c-PTSD is approached as treatable which BPD is less so by the psychiatric community I would only concern myself with determining if the symptoms present were causally enjoined with the abuse inflicted by the subject of my inquiry, D&E, or if existing trauma was compounded by same knowingly.

I am familiar with the rarely discussed but actually treatable sexual dysfunctions related to victims of sexual violence when attempting to be intimate later on with a loving partner, such as vaginismus which makes sex excruciatingly painful or outright impossible even with the most trusted, loving partner if untreated.

At a certain point however clinical jargon will only get you so far, though. I have a small pile of current and former actresses who I have contact information for.

Some of them my instincts have told me to delay in contacting, others I have attempted or succeeded in reaching out to.

Ultimately the hard reality of this is is that there is really not any way to broach the subjects material to what Donald's site's are doing that will not in some way be extremely uncomfortable or even painful for the survivor to discuss. If they were not painful to discuss anymore, they would have come forward and told their stories already as Felicity Feline has bravely become well known for doing.

The fact remains that the biggest obstacle is that I still haven't the faintest idea how to contact the vast majority of these Jane Does or even determine the current material circumstances of their life and work since vanishing. No amount of study can void the existence of my cisgender maleness though so having a female to represent us if directly approached were attempted would be just as valuable even if I had three PhDs. Nobody is going to like being contacted out of the blue and asked about such a painful memory, that's not something I can change or find a clever way to work around.

The manner I need help most though is really just in the scale of this ongoing criminal enterprise and the sheer number of potential victims out there being unimaginable for a single individual to identify and contact on their own one by one by one by one..

I am not particularly concerned about how I come off to those who are not willing or able to help with this work in some form or at least pass the existence of the project along to somebody else who may. My feelings about porn in a general sense are not particularly relevant because this is a criminal enterprise an order of magnitude more exploitative than all but a few similar real abuse sites around the world I've encountered. People who hate porn should be enraged by the existence of these sites. People who wank all day and night to softcore porn should be even more enraged by these sites. The free speech coalition should be enraged about these sites but they are in bed with Donald now so it is too late for them to come out of this unscathed.

After what they have survived and overcome already to move on with their lives after these experiences, I have little doubt that our Jane Does have the grit to endure my asking them if they're in a place where they were willing or able to share their experience working for this company either on or off the record and that they are of course welcome to know anything at all they wanted to about me and what my goals were for this beforehand, and if the slightest indication that they have been disturbed by the line of questioning profusely apologizing and telling them it is totally normal for them to have difficulties discussing such a fresh wound and that I would be glad to hear from them if they were not able to comment presently but could some other time, and usually send them a pirated copy of Tangled or Frozen to hopefully take their mind off the thing and whatever else I can do as I duck out and on to the next one.

No offense, but time is of the essence. Donald could be highlighting all the places to sign and initial for his next victim as we speak. Maybe they are in 6H filming already.

Edit: this got downvoted so maybe I should be clearer, I still need some help in the outreach department.

Not for nothing but you should be concerned. Not for your own sake but for the sake of the women you wish to protect and the story.

If you cross a line, if you anger sources, or, perhaps most importantly, lose so much integrity that no one takes you, your story or the women seriously then it's going to be a bad outcome.

On your own, it's not likely you're going to break a story like this into the mainstream press and really, for the most impact, that's what you're probably going to need.

Journalism 101 says don't be the story. Now if you want to be an activist that's different but be clear about who and what you are doing (not just with others but also yourself) because misrepresentation will hurt your cause.

I'm not in your shoes and I'd be unwilling to dig so deep into what seems truly traumatic and horrifying but you may want to consider your long-term impact. What's the best outcome? How can you fit into making that outcome a reality?

If it's as activist, cool, build alliances, build a timeline, listen (and listen more), gather as many facts as you possibly can but don't pressure any of these women. They need to be interviewed by a professional reporter or law enforcement, if at all possible, for the most impact.

Let me pitch a worse case scenario to you: You get in touch with a woman, you explain your beliefs, your point of view on what they did and what you're trying to do, that you're trying to destroy this guy. They get on board with the ideas even if they didn't think that before and might recant later -- you could inadvertently poison the well with leading questions. It could undermine your credibility and the credibility of the story.

Not saying this is what you're doing but you sound very committed and the best of intentions don't always lead to the best of outcomes.

Activists can do research, they can advocate, they can pitch the story to reporter and investigative journalists, they can do so much. If you find a woman who, on their own initiative, wants to report a crime to law enforcement (again, it shouldn't be your suggestion) or you find evidence of legal wrongdoing by these people, you can make reports -- try and get law enforcement interest. [Despite what anyone says, criminal acts can't be waved away by contracts].

Just know where you stand.

I've been doing this for 18 months and this is the first time I've said anything as myself. I've just been digging through unfathomable horrors and doing corporate research every day at considerable expense to my mental health and I don't regret a second of it.

Now again I'm very open to any help I can get on this and sort of led with that. Actually I've already been blessed with a few wonderful volunteers who are helping me with the delicate outreach work.

It's not that I don't care about how I am perceived, it's that if I was a story at least there WAS a story at all.

I wouldn't want it but if donald came out of his hole to come after me, at least he's going after me and not a survivor is how I see it.

And then he is exposed for all to see. That's not the plan, but in the scenario you present, don't you think that would be preferable?

Nobody's been willing to put their name on the line and just say "fuck these fucking rapists from Jersey to hell". I'll gladly die on that hill.

As long as it isn't at the expense of someone other than me.

Cause yea, fuck these guys to hell and back I'm angry as hell this exists and I'm not afraid of Donald or his money.

But I'm patient too. And still accepting any help available. Seriously. This isn't the time for me to be vain or image conscious or in any way not real about what this is and what the stakes are.

But I'm patient too. And still accepting any help available. Seriously.

This will be your greatest strength.

I have a few thoughts that might be helpful. Maybe? I'm reluctant because I admire your commitment and passion, are great things every done without them? So please don't feel discouraged.

Still, maybe it could help you accomplish your ultimate goal?

First, it's unlikely he'd ever come after you -- he'd go after the women.

I watched the video by Felicity Felix, talking about her experience. [What an incredibly brave woman, to go onto YouTube and share what clearly she felt shame about in the past for the sake of warning women in the future.]

It's important to note that based on her words in that video it'd be difficult to see a rape conviction. I'm not a prosecutor but I think a defense attorney could make a strong case that she was a porn actress, this was a professional shoot and she signed all the waivers. They didn't know she felt coerced and would have immediately stopped if she had said so. She never revoked her consent and, in fact, came back for additional work.

Now, maybe a smart prosecutor can make the point that she was coerced because she got no money whatsoever unless the shoot was completed so she could not grant legal consent.

I think that's a strong point -- that a woman could go through 20 minutes of that, then say "stop," and she gets nothing (and we presume they don't get to use the video because she wasn't paid) could be fraud or sexual assault because if the women aren't paid anything the contracts are not valid.

The point isn't that it would be impossible but that if most women repeated a similar story it'd be difficult to see a conviction [as an aside I'd sure be curious whether the DA's office where these were filmed is conservative and what their priorities are]

It'd be great if you could talk to a prosecutor, former prosecutor, federal or state law enforcement to hear what it would take to see this guy convicted (or even what it would take for his NJ business license to be revoked).

I do think it'd be very bad if the story of these women and their exploitation was undermined by someone who pushed their own agenda.

I can't speak for these women or what they need. It's complicated because, like most abuse and mental trauma, it's not usually just one thing.

It appears, from the outside, that this man may be preying upon the already vulnerable and at-risk for suicide or other high-risk activities (drug abuse being the most obvious). I'm sure you already know this! :D

This means that if you do make a strong claim (I don't think you have done this but it feels implied) that his business and what he does to these women is causing them so much trauma that they are committing suicide you'd need very strong evidence outside of the published videos themselves.

Maybe you have it but make sure it is ironclad or don't make the claim -- the other stuff is damning enough.

Overall, reading your post it seems like you are proceeding in a thoughtful manner and I'd encourage you to continue to partner with people who have experience in the areas important for this sort of activism.

If the Law ignores you and these women then the only thing left to do is try to get the stories publicized and take care in doing the work of a journalist that your passion and commitment doesn't blind you to the need for objectivity if you want to "report" on what happened. If you can't stay objective, you better find someone who can to do interviews or have the conversations because otherwise you make it about you.

The story absolutely should not be about you because if it is this guy you're trying to take down gets wind of it and he just starts saying, "Hey, this guy is crazy; he's tracking down all these actresses. Telling them I'm horrible and all these lies and forcing them to say thing they don't mean otherwise he won't leave them alone. He's the real crazy!"

And then he'd harass them women he could get in touch with to stop working with you or he'd find some way to destroy their lives.

 As I was proofing this I realized that if this were true it might be enough to get into court for a civil suit. I don't know what the laws of the jurisdiction he films in are but it certainly seems like a lawsuit for sexual assault might be possible if a victim felt so coerced that they didn't have the legal capacity to consent [i.e. If Felicity felt she freely gave her permission to start but after it had begun she could no longer revoke permission because she would be paid nothing ... feels like a long shot]. You'd really have to talk to a lawyer about this but it could help crack open the door by allowing discovery into this guy's records to contact other women as witnesses.

It would probably take a little searching and a few (many) visits to attorneys (hopefully you could find one specializing in sexual assault) but considering this guy is still making - what appears to be - good money off of these videos it could help stoke the interest of an attorney willing to work on contingency.

 /end tangent

I apologize for the long-winded response. Was just trying to be thoughtful in responding to something, honestly, I knew nothing about and had never seen before but clearly looks awful. I am disturbed by the content and the fact so many are willing to pay for it.

Hope it was a little helpful. Best of luck.

What actually is facialabuse though??

↑ 11 ↓ Reply +

alexbarbershop 180d

So, facial abuse is a website where (mostly) amateur and previously unknown girls they find in a litany of ways and lure to the D&E Media studio at 360 Glencoe Avenue in E. Orange, NJ and while not a ton is known about their paperwork process, the crux is the girls sign away every right under the sun. The videos are produced USUALLY but not always, with the express sadistic purpose of breaking the actress down not as a character but as herself, and due to their taking a 'past trauma questionnaire' which Donald Vollenweider, who's mom is a retired social worker, uses to break them down emotionally beyond anything I'd ever seen before I had the misfortune of discovering it.

It is, in a literal and tangible sense, Rape Snuff. The only sense that it is not sexual assault is the fact that this sadistic prick has found away to exploit contract law to immunize himself for the heinous crimes committed in plain sight for two decades now.

It is about deliberately inflicting permanent trauma and emotional hardship to essentially 'punish' these women for what Donald sees as a personality deficit (he is a fascist after all) but is 100% of the time actually because the girls are basically impoverished by student loans or generational poverty. The other two sites are the same but he segregates them because he is also a racist. Except he likes asians so they go with the white girls I guess. His alias Duke is a Klan reference (Donald, Duke, Donald Duke Grand Wizard of the KKK...)

I'm going to upload a not sfw, but allowable on YouTube HEAVY TRIGGER WARNING heavily edited version of Rosalyn's scene shortly so people can know about this without actually tunneling into hell and watching everything. but the cruelty can't be edited around, because the cruelty is the point of facialabuse.

Honestly it makes me want to kill myself that a site like this could even exist, let alone for so long. that's why I'm doing this. Also, nobody else was except for this one guy Felicity Feline introduced me to. She's spoken publicly about how fucked up this experience is, you should watch her youtube video first if you're interested (SFW, at least visually. what she describes is pretty brutal though) in taking these pricks down for good with us.

Edit: wonder why you got downvoted so hard. donald must be here with the bots, yay.

😭 yeah. honestly I've come to the conclusion that porn is much worse than SOME actual illegal prostitution. porn is just prostitution that hangs a scarlet letter around your neck the rest of your life for that one time you took a craigslist 'modeling' gig to pay your credit card bills.

unfortunately there are some even harder to watch than that. ultimately my goal is for the victims of this company to be given the copyrights for the videos of their abuse by court order like the girlsdoPorn victims were.

As it stands they are paid about $1200 one time, only if they complete the shoot, and then not one cent in royalties ever, and have no rights to withdraw the videos of the sickening abuse from circulation if they desire privacy over royalties, which I think many of them do.

I've said for a long time now that the most common and biggest lie in our society is, "I have read and agree to the terms and conditions". It blows my mind consistently to see how many ways this lie can be used to destroy the humanity of the individual as a means to benefit a group. This is easily one of the worst I've seen. It has to stop. At what point will it become reasonable to tell porn companies/social media companies/etc. that they must stop exploiting the fact that they can afford lawyers for every little contract and the individuals affected by said contracts cannot? This, to me, is one of our biggest problems in society today.

PREACH. from hello fresh all the way to violent filmed sexual assault.

I had actually been calling donald vollenweider's process "contract rape". it's just the logical continuation of having massive piles of money controlled by sadists and pedophiles and an alienated population of workers and consumers with no solidarity and therefore no leverage against the corporate orphan-crushing machine that is corporate feudalism modernity

u/myh1400 yes, some fairly significant ones as well. Also I want to respond publicly to u/risky Riley because they provided a great deal of constructive feedback and should know it was appreciated.

I found a post-shoot suicide that got overlooked at the time in 2019 as well as confirmed a suicide attempt I'd heard rumors of on a couple old ghanian web forums from the early 2000s, this is why I haven't been on. There is actually a LOT going on suddenly, so the only reason I haven't been here is really because doing this invariably leaves me in an almost indescribably dark place mental-health wise.

This means, about 2 years into this clockwork orange fever dream, coping mechanisms are turned up to 11. one of them is disappearing in nature or urbex-type thing. others are less healthy, but I got a 'don't-kill-yourself dog' two weeks ago and that's been the best one yet. Don't worry, the rest of the team is way more stoic than I am, things are getting done. I'm sure Donald Emil Vollenweider or his Attorney/panderer Ernest 'Ernie' Rossi of Beverly NJ, who I understand is charged with skulking around onlyfans, twitter, modelmayhem, insta, tiktok and craigslist for industry unknowns to mislead and deliberately traumatize at - get this - Donald sends an Uber to pick up the girl at home, and has as of an unknown point maybe in the past couple years begun to shoot the videos at AN UNDISCLOSED LOCATION. so not only are the women there alone with only the D&E staff like boots and donnie without their car or bike, they DON'T EVEN KNOW WHERE THEY ARE.

that wasn't the update. big things are happening, I hope.

I can't express how glad I am that someone is trying to take him down. I spend a little too much time on twitter reporting people who post sexist porn and comments, and so many of them post videos from his sites. One guy who I got removed once but who made another account posts purely videos from his sites where the women are having breakdowns. I watched one and it scarred me. "bootleg" and the guy filming ask her if what they're doing to her is bringing back memories of what her daddy or uncle did to her. She starts sobbing. They just keep verbally, mentally, and physically harming her, and are giddy at the prospect that they're reminding her of her trauma. I genuinely believe the men part of these sites despise women. I believe they are ecstatic that by framing it as porn and entertainment, they get to abuse and assault women, often times leaving them with horrible trauma. The things they say to them is evidence enough of that. They also hate black women even more. Ghetto gadders is hate-fueled and horrifying. And the men who watch and get off to it? I truly fear and feel awful for the women in their life.

Let me know if there's any possible way I could be of aide. These sites need to come to an end. I can't believe we live in a society that thinks it's okay for such hateful material to be shared, and easily accessible for minors. I can't believe the men part of it have faced no consequences, social or otherwise. And I can't believe so many fellow feminists are okay with it existing, and even say it is empowering. We need a revival of the anti-porn feminist movement.

that's the company line but it's only the case with the ones who shoot in LA or otherwise don't get the wrecking crew treatment. I don't have any evidence to support that they have any idea what they are really getting into and you don't either I'll bet.

And furthermore, imagine you were offered a role in a horror movie, lets say it's called the chester chainsaw massacre. Now a reasonable person would see leatherface hunting people down and severing limbs with a gas powered tree saw and assume it was all special effects because it's common knowledge that movies are done with effects, right?

Now you are brought to set in a blindfold, all alone except the crew that hired you. you are chased and have your arm sawed off by a real psychopath, with the cameras rolling and the crew making no effort to assist you. When you bled out in a ditch later on that day, it would still be a murder that happened, no reasonable person could deny that a murder had occurred and if caught, the crew would be prosecuted.

Now we call pornstars actors and actresses. So a similar underlying assumption among those naive to the behind the scenes practices of the porn industry, unaware that it's just a loophole for prostitution and basically worse in some ways - and completely unregulated with regulations affecting it in existing law basically unenforced except for the age law.

So being shown a savage, violent and degrading rape scene, a reasonable person who did not know what I do and anyone else familiar with Donald Emil Vollenweider's productions knows, would not be completely unreasonable in assuming that much of what they were seeing was 'movie magic' and that they were not watching a real traumatic experience, as they often are with Donald's sites.

So even if they did show them footage from the rape sites beforehand, which I have no evidence of and do not believe to be categorically true for models recruited for temporary employment at D&E Media, even if that were the case, the legal presumption that the entire thing is based on is patently absurd.

The presumption that one can be immunized from prosecution for felony crimes through a common law contract in which when reviewed and signed one party enjoys all of the leverage and has had years to ascertain the meaning of the contract, and the other party likely will not even have an opportunity to review the contract with an attorney or take a copy home with them from what I hear, having no leverage at all..

even brett kavanaugh or clarence thomas would have to hold that federal criminal law had supremacy over a private contract signed under financial or other forms of duress..

they work hard to keep this shit out of the courts cause Donald's defense against basically what would amount to a RICO charge at this point, is basically just confident bluster and chest puffing. The courts would face-fuck him until he vomited, essentially, as they are currently doing to Paulie Harker for domestic terrorism.

You really think harker isn't gonna tell the feds whatever they want to know with the kind of time that he's facing? For all I know there could be a serious investigation well underway. I don't think there is, but there could be, and I could just be a red herring to distract him while they storm his house on fox chase in those letter jackets. Or not. Donald should be very afraid though.

The choice between doing porn and being a homeless woman is a false choice, especially if one has dependents. They didn't sign up for shit any more than they asked to be born into this Gilead ass failed state we live in.
